4. The size of the recent classes has increased our requirements for various types of instructional aids. Our requirements for reproduction service, such as ditto and photostat have also increased, and we are finding some difficulty in getting the service needed. The problem seems to be chiefly one of adequate staff to do work of this kind.

5. The completion of the work on the air conditioning of Alcott Hall would contribute greatly to the efficiency of our operations. This work has proceeded in brief spurts since last winter. With classes of our present size, outside noises interrupt speakers many times during the course of a lecture, and the security hazards prevents us from taking advantage of amplifying equipment. Wing "B" has been available for work since 12 June, but the only men appearing have been plumbers examining the radiator valves. Wing "A" will be vacated from 11 July to 25 July, and advantage should be taken at this time to complete the installations there.

6. The Reading Improvement Branch currently has 91 students enrolled. Three Agency classes will complete training this week. New classes are scheduled for 13 July.
